HUNGARY CUTS DOWN TERRITORY DEMANDS ON CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Compromise Proposal Submitted to Prague Government After Standing Fast for Weeks—Change to More Pacific Attitude Comes After Pressure From Three Powers

BUDAPEST, Oct. 24 (P).—Hungary dropped about 30 per cent of her previous demands for territory in Czechoslovakia today in a compromise proposal submitted to the Prague Government. The compromise was offered after Hungary had stood fast for weeks in territorial negotiations with Czechoslovakia.

In a communique tonight the Hungarian Government made it clear it was determined to settle the dispute with Czechoslovakia by peaceful means and not to resort to arms.

This followed preparations of an army of almost 500,000 men along the Czechoslovak frontier and reports it would march Wednesday if Czechoslovakia had not by then acceded to previous Hungarian demands.

STRONGLY ADVISED
Hungary's new stand was understood in diplomatic circles to have been taken after Germany, Italy and Poland strongly advised her not to continue pushing demands which would be unacceptable to any Czechoslovak Government and which would endanger peace.

Hungary's latest offer, described as "final" and with an answer demanded within forty-eight hours, contained the following four proposals:

1. That undisputed areas of Czechoslovakia claimed by Hungary be occupied by the Hungarian troops without further delay.
2. That plebiscites be held in disputed districts not later than November 30.
3. That in the event Czechoslovakia should reject these demands, a German, Polish and Italian joint jury should arbitrate.
4. That the right of "self-determination" be given to Ruthenians, Slovaks and other nationalities.

Only if Czechoslovakia should not acknowledge Hungary's "final" proposal and provision for arbitration Continued on Page 2, Column 6

ARMY TO HAVE FULL CONTROL
Taking Over Traffic and Communications Next Week in Palestine

JERUSALEM, Oct. 24 (P).—All traffic and communications in Palestine will be taken over by British military authorities November 1 in a move believed preliminary to a plan to limit movements of the populace to urban areas.

This would keep civilians out of the way of troops moving about to fight the Arab revolt against British administration and Jewish immigration in the Holy Land.

In Jerusalem itself, the British command continued to withdraw soldiers from the old city, although they kept machine gun nests mounted on the quarter's ancient walls. The Coldstream Guards left today, and British police took the places of the Northern Ireland Fusiliers who retired yesterday.

Two-Story House at Langford Destroyed by Fire Starting From Upset Lamp

A two-story home, valued at between $2,500 and $3,000, situated in a lane off Millstream Road, Langford, was completely destroyed by fire at 8 o'clock last night. All the belongings and furniture in the house were lost.

Mr. Besito, owner, who was at home at the time of the conflagration, told the forest ranger that a piece of plaster from the ceiling had fallen on a coal-oil lamp, causing it to upset and spill the oil on the floor.

Forestry men had no chance to save the house, which was a complete loss one hour after the fire started. Whether the building was covered by insurance was not known.

Armored Car Advances Along Railway to Point Only Four Miles Away From Capital's Outer Defence Works—Flyers Claim Chinese Forces Retreating to Westward

SHANGHAI, Oct. 25 (P).—A Japanese armored car unit from Hwangpei, twenty miles from north of Hankow, reached the Peiping-Hankow railway today and, advancing down the railway, reached a position only four miles from the Chinese military capital's outer defence works.

Wong of the advance was relayed from the front by Domei, Japanese News Agency.

Spokesmen for the Japanese forces said they expected the fall of the former provisional capital at any moment.

Japanese flyers reported Chinese troops in flight west of Hankow. Three Chinese warships, an estimated 2,000 junks and 200 motor-boats, all packed with Chinese soldiers, were proceeding presumably toward Ichang, nearly 400 miles upstream from Hankow, the airman said.

The army reported an outstanding advance both from east and north of Hankow by motorized units, which reached Hwangpei, twenty miles north of the capital. Naval forces continued up the Yangtze River, determined to keep pace with the army. They last left for the first time.

LEARNS GUN PLANT COST

Bren Commission Given Details Connected With Set-Up of Inglis Company

OTTAWA, Oct. 24 (P).—Major J. E. Hahn, president of John Inglis Company, Limited, of Toronto, and his associates, obtained ownership originally of the Inglis plant in Toronto for $250,000. It was revealed today before the Davis Commission investigating the Bren gun contract.

Through a series of financial operations the assets, goodwill and undertaking were subsequently sold for $1,400,000 to the British Canadian Engineering Company, which later became John Inglis Company, Limited.

FINANCIAL DETAILS
The purchase of the British Canadian Engineering Company was made in June 1, 1937, and the $1,400,000 was payable as follows: $30 in cash, $1,149,972 by common shares at $5 each, $150,000 by issue of 6 per cent first mortgage bonds, $100,028 in cash by February 8, 1938.

Details of the complicated transactions covering the reorganization of the Inglis plant were given in bulky reports presented before the Davis Commission today by a chartered accountant of the Montreal firm of P. S. Ross & Sons.

The Inglis Company's contract with the National Defence Department for 7,000 Bren light machine-guns was criticized last September by Col. George A. Drew, Toronto lawyer, in an article published in Maclean's Magazine. Mr. Justice H. H. Davis, of the Supreme Court of Canada, was appointed a one-man commission to examine the contract, and the hearing is now entering its fifth week.

Alderman Okell stated, in part: "I am not satisfied with the progress being made in our negotiations with the B.C. Electric Railway Company, Ltd. Nor am I satisfied with the manner in which negotiations have been carried on. I also refer to water agreements with Saanich and Oak Bay."

"Until a deal is made with the B.C. Electric, we must continue to negotiate. But let those negotiations be amicable, gentlemanly and dignified. I think we have been quite right in securing expert advice, but it is for this council to say how much of that advice is to be accepted or rejected."

"We had no idea things would string out so long when we engaged R. W. Beck, and it is regrettable that he has not been able to give us more time."

"As far as I can see now, we might as well scrap our public utilities by-law, because it is to be continued on Page 2, Column 2.

INSURANCE IS NOW PROPOSED

Compulsory Auto Coverage And Reduction in Licence Fees Urged on Province

Immediate compulsory automobile insurance, and commencement this season on a plan to reduce British Columbia motor licence fees by annual stages to a purely nominal level, were two requests made yesterday to the Provincial Government by a delegation from the Automobile Club of Vancouver. J. Rowe Holland, Frank Bird and D. E. Thomson acted on the delegation, interviewing Cabinet members.

In a prepared brief, the organization pointed to the annual burden on motor vehicle owners through taxation, licensing and otherwise, and stated that at a future date the organization would renew its drive to have motor vehicle revenue earmarked for road construction. Last year, it was pointed out, these revenues to the Province amounted to $2,719,710.

DEFER OTHER REQUESTS
Later, too, when the Province's fortunes improve, the organization said it would ask for elimination of tolls on Government bridges, roads and ferries, and for compulsory insurance with a provincial board to fix premium rates.

At present, however, a start towards compulsory insurance, and a percentage reduction of motor licence fees was asked. Cabinet reaction to the request was reserved, the point touching Crown revenues.

Says European Peace Pact Made at Munich Should Be Furthered

Lord Halifax, Foreign Secretary, Claims Results Of Accord Could Be Helped Forward Especially On an Anglo-German Understanding

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Oct. 24.—Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, tonight advocated a European peace pact based upon personal contacts made at the Munich four-power conference and especially on an Anglo-German understanding.

"We must lose no opportunity of helping forward the results of personal contacts established between Germany, Italy, France and ourselves at Munich," he said.

By following this course he said "we shall not abandon old friends in the search for new."

He indicated the key to any four-power agreement would be an understanding between London and Berlin.

STRONG GUARANTEE
"I do not hesitate to say that, if the German and British nations could really succeed in reaching an understanding, it would be the strongest guarantee that could be devised against the dangers to which the world has been brought so close," Lord Halifax declared.

"I hope indeed that rectification of frontiers according to the racial distribution of population which is now taking place in Central South-eastern Europe may contribute to stability and peace."

He added, however, "we must take all measures—already taken months ago by Continental countries—which are essential to our strength and safety."

same right as other companies to tender on transportation for the city. The electorate would then ratify any agreement presented by the council, he said.

"I implore you not to rush into transportation matters," Alderman Gadsden exclaimed.

Alderman Ockell thought the council should not consider the proposed transportation by-law at the meeting. He understood the council was asking for enabling legislation to put through a transportation deal when matters were ready.

Alderman Williams reminded aldermen they had no idea what a bus service would cost the city.

Mr. Pringle stated the council could call for transportation tenders, but transportation was not fully covered by legislation. He thought tenders should be received by November 27 if the electorate was to vote on the matter on December 8.

CONCERN OF CITY
Alderman Williams added that expiration of the street car franchise on December 5 was the concern of the city and the B.C. Electric Company.

Alderman Dewar thought it would be futile for the city to enter into a franchise agreement alone since the matter affected every other municipality.

Alderman Morgan moved that recommendations of the franchise committee be adopted, but later amended the motion to the effect that they be taken up on Thursday.

The recommendations included a suggestion that the B.C. Electric be asked to pay $21,700 for replacement of a water main on Blanshard Street damaged by electrolysis; that the draft of a by-law providing for the establishment of a transportation system be approved, and that the city solicitor be asked to investigate the possibility of obtaining legislation regarding the inauguration of a bus service.

TO CONTINUE CARS
On motion of Alderman Morgan, it was decided to thank the B.C. Electric for its offer to temporarily continue street cars here, and to inform the company that the city would accept the terms for a limited time. The franchise committee was asked to negotiate terms.

Mayor McGavin announced franchise matters would be discussed with municipal representatives on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and again by the council at 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon.

NEW FIELD FOR BUSINESS SEEN
W. A. Burnett Tells Gyros Of Growth of West Coast Mining Town

A graphic description of the development of the Privateer Gold Mine at Zeballos, on the West Coast of Vancouver, was given by W. A. Burnett to the Victoria Gyro Club at luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

The speaker was one of 120 persons who made a trip by bus to Zeballos last week to witness the pouring of the first gold brick.

Telling of the rapid development of the new mining town on the coast, Mr. Burnett emphasized the importance to Victoria, and to the province generally, of the new business that was being created at Zeballos, and recommended that the local merchants should explore this latest field.

Facilities to be found at Zeballos today were in marked contrast to the conditions that prevailed at the mushroom camp a year ago, Mr. Burnett said. There was now accommodation available for visitors, and Zeballos was rapidly growing into a town of considerable importance.

MODERN EQUIPMENT
The speaker described the equipment of the Privateer Mine, and stated that about $22,000 worth of gold was produced from the mine during the short stay of the Victoria party in the camp. He told of the modern plant that had been installed, replacing the primitive equipment that was used during the early working of the mine, when the ore had to be packed out to the water on the backs of employees of the mine, who tramped over the roughest of trails.

Frank Paulding made an appeal for support for the Community Chest, and explained that the needs of the various organizations appearing on the list received the most careful consideration before the allocation was made. It was better to spend money on prevention rather than on rescue work later, Mr. Paulding said.

WILL STAND FOR REEVE

Councillor A. G. Lambrick Announces Candidature In Saanich Election

Councillor Arthur G. Lambrick, well-known dairy farmer of Saanich, member of the municipal council for the past four years and a member of the police commission, announced last night that he would be a candidate for the reeveship of Saanich in the elections to be held in December.

"Owing to the insistent pressure from various bodies, including the municipal school board, police commission, council and ratepayers, I have decided to run for reeve," Councillor Lambrick said. "It is the first time I have contested the office," he continued.

NO STATEMENT YET
He declined to make any statement as to his platform, which he said he would make public later.

Councillor Lambrick has been actively identified with municipal affairs during his four years in the council chamber and has made an intensive study of the water supply question. He has served on all committees with the exception of that of health, and is at present a member of the public works, Victoria and Saanich parks and beaches, finance and water committees.

HEADS DAIRYMEN
For seven years the councillor has guided the destinies of the South Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association, being the first president of the original organization, the Victoria and Saanich Dairy Association.

Councillor Lambrick was the president of the Mount Douglas Parent-Teacher Association and is well acquainted with school affairs in the municipality of Saanich.

As a result of his intention to seek the reeve's chair, Councillor Lambrick will resign from the police commission on which he has served one year of a two-year term, as the reeve is automatically chairman of the latter body.

CAUGHT AFTER ROBBERY BANK

Smart Work of Teller Helps In Arrest of Vancouver Bandits

VANCOUVER, Oct. 24.—Two men, giving their names as George Alfred Martin, thirty-eight, and Paul Marcel, thirty-four, were charged with robbery with violence today, a few hours after a Canadian Bank of Commerce branch had been held up and $3,711 stolen from its tills.

The pair were arrested in a taxi just outside the bank by a police officer who had been ordered to the scene to investigate reports of "suspicious characters" before the hold-up occurred. Constable Donald Maxwell was assisted in making the arrests by youthful Bob De Graves, bank assistant, who had rushed out of the bank after the hold-up and fired four shots at a taxi as it was moving from the curb.

Court of Appeal

Victoria Sitings

Andrew Frederickson (A) vs. Russell B. Burt (R).—The appellant, who is an infant suing by his next friend, Gus Frederickson, appealed from the judgment of Mr. Justice Manson made on June 10, 1938, dismissing his action.

The action was brought to recover damages the plaintiff suffered when knocked off his bicycle by a truck driven by the respondent at the corner of Main and Georgia Streets in Vancouver at 8 o'clock in the evening of September 9, 1937. It was alleged the plaintiff, a messenger boy, was traveling south on Main Street while the defendant, who was going north on that street, and making a left hand turn onto Granville, intending to cross the viaduct, struck the plaintiff's bicycle, threw him to the pavement, injuring his knee.

As the corner in question is controlled by traffic lights, Mr. Donneworth, counsel for the appellant, argued that there was a special duty placed on the defendant to exercise special care in making a turn across traffic. The trial judge found that the defendant had proceeded with care and caution and at very slow speed in making the turn and dismissed the action.

The Court of Appeal upheld the trial judge's finding and dismissed the appeal.

F. M. Donneworth for the appellant; B. L. Maitland, K.C., for the respondent.

HUNGARY CUTS DOWN DEMANDS

The three powers would Hungary feel free to adopt drastic measures. The new offer agrees to plebiscites in economically important and strategic districts, cities and towns which mean much to Hungary and which she previously had demanded outright.

Should the Czechoslovak Government accept the proposals, its troops would have to evacuate some 7,000 square kilometers (2,700 square miles) of "undisputed area." November 1. The Czechoslovak army would have to turn over to Hungary fortifications which were built at a cost of millions of dollars. Rich timber sections, ore mines and also extensive railroad system also would go to Hungary.

(Hungary's new note was delivered in Prague to the Czechoslovak Premier, General Jan Syrový. The Government was said to have begun immediate consideration of the proposals.)

On his return from a 2,800-mile contact trip through Washington, Oregon and California, George I. Warren, publicity commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, said yesterday he expected to see a record set for travel to the Pacific Coast next year.

Mr. Warren stated the trip was the most successful he had ever made. In the course of it he addressed the United States national convention of the Traveling Railway Passenger Agents at San Francisco and three Pacific Coast conventions.

In his address to the railway agents he urged support in routing visitors through Victoria while on the way to or from the Golden Gate International Exhibition at San Francisco next year.

He also spoke to a number of service clubs and had three radio addresses, one over a Mutual Broadcasting System hook-up from Roseburg, Ore., and the others over local stations at Eureka and Medford.

Mr. Warren conferred with Charles Johns, secretary of the Washington Progress Commission, at Olympia, and with Harold Say, manager of tourist publicity for the state of Oregon, at Salem.

His survey of Coast conditions had shown that Victoria had a better tourist season this year than any other part of the Pacific Slope, Mr. Warren said.

COMPANY MAY SPEND MONEY

Prepared to Spend $20,000 Annually on System—Firemen's Wages Increased

Salaries of drivers in the fire department will be increased $1.75 per month as from October 1, and next year's council will be urged to add another $1.50 per month on January 1, it was decided at a City Council meeting last night.

Mayor Andrew McGavin, Aldermen John A. Worthington and B. J. Gadsden voted against the measure. As a result of the majority vote in favor of the increase, Alderman Worthington announced his resignation from the special wage committee which he said should have dealt with the matter. He was asked by the mayor to reconsider his decision.

POSITION OF COMPANY
A letter from W. G. Murrin, president of the B.C. Electric Railway Company, Limited, stated the company was prepared to spend $20,000 the first year and about the same the second year, if the company was asked to continue street car service after the franchise expired on December 5. The amounts would be used for maintenance and renewals.

In regard to the employees, the present conditions would be continued and any becoming eligible for pensions under the company's scheme during extension of the agreement, would be retired at their wish, the letter explained.

It was referred to the franchise committee for further discussion. The council decided to spend $19,254 for the replacement of wooden block paving with asphalt on streets in the business district. An order was made for the widening and improvement of McClure Street and its sidewalk from Douglas Street to Blanshard Street at a cost of $950.

SUPERANNUATION COST
A report of the city comptroller stated that the cost of superannuation to the city this year would be $45,100, but if the new uniform pension plan, based upon $350 per annum for twenty years' service, was adopted, the cost would be reduced to $36,360 next year.

He believed the total cost to the city would not exceed 7 per cent of the payroll. Eventually the cost could be reduced over a period of thirty to fifty years by means of interest-free government loans. The report was tabled for one week.

Cross Which Stood On Vimy Ridge Is Dedicated in City

Lieut.-Gen. Sir Percy Lake Unveils Memorial in Pioneer Square to Fallen Members of the 16th Battalion, C.E.F.—Large Crowd Attends

A HUMBLE, wooden cross on a granite and cement base and bearing the names of forty-six N.C.O.'s and men of the 16th Battalion, C.E.F., on small tin name plates, was unveiled on Sunday afternoon in Pioneer Square by Lieutenant-General Sir Percy Lake, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., where it had been transferred from Vimy Ridge, overlooking the battlefields of France.

Muffled pealing of the bells from Christ Church Cathedral, beside the square, immediately preceded the service, which was attended by a crowd of some 500, despite the falling rain. Officers of the Royal Canadian Navy, the permanent force, militia units, members of the I.O.D.E., and Mayor Andrew McGavin and members of the City Council were present at the ceremony.

Sir Percy pulled the cord which removed the Union Jack from the face of the memorial, on which is the inscription: "To the glory of God and the immortal memory of our comrades, of all ranks in the Canadian, Scottish Regiment who gave their lives in the service of Canada and the Empire in the Great War."

The service began with the playing of the hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," by the Canadian Scottish Band. Lieut.-Col. Lorne Ross, D.S.O., president of the 16th Battalion (C.E.F.) Association, paid a fitting tribute to the fallen comrades. "We recall with conscious pride their services to our country in time of war, which makes us ready at all times to do our part in times of peace," he said.

"It is fitting that this memorial should be created in this beautiful and historical square, where rest so many of the honored and respected pioneers of our city and province," Colonel Ross continued.

He expressed the association's thanks to the Mayor and City Council for their permission in allowing the cross to be erected in the square, the I.O.D.E. for their service to the soldiers during the Great War, and Sir Percy Lake for consenting to unveil the memorial.

HALLOWED TRADITIONS One-time commander of the battalion, Lieut.-Col. H. M. Urquhart, D.S.O., M.C., said the perpetuation of the traditions of the 16th Battalion should have the first place in the symbolism of the memorial, for there were traditions which went back to the year 1590, when the parent regiment of the Canadian Scottish, the Royal Scots (Royal Regiment), was founded.

Placed in Pioneer Square by the newly-formed Victoria Branch of the 16th Battalion Association, the cross served the wider end of commemorating all the 1,346 men of the

In Commemoration of the Fallen

Principals in the unveiling of the memorial cross to fallen members of the 16th Battalion, C.E.F., are shown above just before Lieut.-General Sir Percy Lake, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., pulled the cord which loosened the Union Jack from the rough-hewn wooden cross, bearing the names of forty-six N.C.O.'s and men who died on April 9, 1917, at Vimy. Among those name-plates is that of Private Powell, who posthumously was granted the Victoria Cross. In the picture are, from left to right: Commander J. E. W. Oland, R.C.N., Alderman Archie Willis, Alderman Stanley H. Okell, Sir Percy Lake, Rev. G. R. V. Bolster, Lieut.-Colonel H. M. Urquhart and Colonel J. R. Kingham. Brigadier J. C. Stewart, Colonel Walter Bapty, Major Eric Henderson, Lieut.-Colonel Lorne Ross, D.S.O., and Mayor Andrew McGavin were also present at the ceremony.

battalion killed in France and Flanders, as well as the dead of the 50th Battalion, the Gordon Highlanders, later incorporated into the Canadian Scottish. Most important of all, it was a symbol to the present Canadian Scottish Regiment of the achievements and service of the war-time unit.

Colonel Urquhart stated the 16th Battalion was present in all the major engagements fought by the Canadians on the Western Front, and was in the forefront as a shock battalion in every battle except that of Passchendaele, when the whole Third Brigade was in reserve.

EVANESCENT RECORD The unit, he said, took all the objectives set for it in a clean-cut way, and held them all until ordered to retire. He reminded the men of the present Canadian Scottish that the new shoulder badges they were wearing, for the first time at the ceremony, commemorated the battle of April 22 and 23, 1915, in which the 16th and 20th Battalions prevented the turning of the flank of the whole British army and the possible capture of the Channel ports following the first gas attack of the war. Behind achievements such as these, he declared, was the more important human factor of the character and purpose of the men who performed them.

LAST POST Rev. G. R. V. Bolster recited the short dedicatory prayer. Four Union Jacks, carried by women of the I.O.D.E., were then dipped in salute and the memorial was unveiled.

Following a period of silence and the Last Post, the pipe band played the lament, "The Flowers of the Forest," with the muffled beat of drums for an accompaniment.

Wreaths were placed at the memorial by the 16th Battalion (C.E.F.) Association, the First Battalion, Canadian Scottish; Sir Percy Lake; I.O.D.E., and individuals.

The service was concluded with the singing of the hymn, "Abide With Me." Members of the Cadboro Bay Sea Scout Association distributed the programmes for the ceremony.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your small intestine every day. If it doesn't, you're not getting enough sleep. It just flows in the bowels. Can't you get your stomach to go? You get constipated. Bile flows into the body, and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink. A more bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes three good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Bile flows and you feel the bile flow freely. They do the work of bile but have no alcohol or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

UP-TREND IN TRADE SEEN

Robert Rae, General Manager of Dominion Bank, Visiting Victoria

Business conditions in the East are showing signs of improvement, and there has been a marked change for the better in the general feeling of business during the past month, in the opinion of Robert Rae, general manager of the Dominion Bank of Canada, who arrived in Victoria yesterday to be present at the opening of the bank's new building on the corner of Yates and Douglas Streets.

During the early part of this year, Canada was really in a pretty depressed condition as far as business was concerned," Mr. Rae admitted, "but since then there has been an improvement. During the recent European crisis, business in the East was more or less at a standstill regarding future commitments, but once the threat of war was removed things started to pick up."

On his trip from Toronto to the West Coast, Mr. Rae found conditions reasonably good in Manitoba, where, though prices were low, there had been a good crop this year.

The farmers of Saskatchewan had started to produce a good crop, and had lost it through no fault of their own. Good feed conditions prevailed in Alberta. Prices for feed were down, and there was enough feed available to carry the ranchers through. Manitoba and Saskatchewan was decidedly short in cattle, but Alberta had a good supply.

Mr. Rae remarked that he had not yet had an opportunity to study the trade figures for British Columbia, but he understood that the fishing industry had experienced a good year, and that mining production was being well maintained. The lumbering industry had been depressed, and it remained to be seen what the new Canadian-United States trade agreement would do for lumbering in this province.

TOURIST TRADE

The bank manager was interested in the steps taken by the Provincial Government to develop the tourist trade of British Columbia. In this trade he saw a source of revenue that was worthy of the fullest development.

On his way across Canada, Mr. Rae stopped at Fort William, Winnipeg, Regina and Calgary, and on the return journey he visited Vancouver, where he will call at Edmonton, Saskatoon and Winnipeg. Mr. Rae, who was appointed general manager of the bank in June, 1937, last visited Victoria in 1929.

Mr. Rae spent Saturday in Seattle, and arrived in Victoria on Sunday. He will remain on the island until Thursday night. Tomorrow the bank manager will travel up-Island with E. C. Manning, chief forester, with whom he went to school in the East.

RECEPTION HELD

With David McMillan, manager of the Victoria branch of the bank, Mr. Rae received many visitors when the new building was officially opened yesterday. Decorated with many baskets of flowers received from business firms and banks in Victoria and other parts of Canada and the United States, the "ultra-modern" building was inspected by many hundreds of Victoria people all day yesterday.

Hon. E. W. Hamber, Lieutenant-Governor, paid an informal call to the bank early in the afternoon, and chatted with Mr. Rae and Mr. McMillan. Later in the afternoon, Mr. Rae was the host at a reception given in the Empress Hotel to mark the opening of the new building.

TO MOVE MEN FROM OAKALLA

Shannon Bay Relief Camp Is Declared Common Jail by Provincial Government

Single homeless men committed to jail for begging in Vancouver will be transferred from Oakalla to a special camp at Shannon Bay, it was explained yesterday by the Attorney-General's Department. Some sixty men are already held in Oakalla on such counts, it was learned. By order-in-council, the Provincial Government declared "Unemployment Relief Camp No. 903," situated at Shannon Bay, near Squamish, to be a common jail, for the purpose of receiving the prisoners.

Relief officials of the Government denied all knowledge of the arrangement, which was carried out by the Attorney-General's Department as a measure of easing pressure on Oakalla jail, it was explained.

REMOVAL OF RESTRICTION IS SOUGHT

Chamber of Commerce Wants Forty-Eight-Hour Tourist Stay Abolished

THINK CITY SHOULD CONSIDER AIRPORT

Complete removal of the forty-eight-hour minimum stay restriction on the bringing back of goods duty free from the United States by Canadian tourists, with the understanding that the United States Government would reciprocate, was suggested by the directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at their meeting yesterday.

They favored retention of the present restriction that the exemption be granted at intervals of not less than four months, and the present maximum of $100 value of goods be admitted without duty.

A suggestion submitted by the Bault Ste. Marie Board of Trade asked that the minimum stay be reduced to twenty-four hours.

WANT AIRPORT

Public pressure should be brought on the City Council to force it to accept its responsibilities in connection with the establishment of an airport for Victoria, the directors were told in a written report from R. H. B. Ker, chairman of the chamber's aviation committee.

Mr. Ker said he believed some of the adherents were lukewarm, but the council should be prepared to assume an obligation of up to $10,000 or $12,000 a year for the first few years in connection with the operation of an airport.

Walter S. Miles told the meeting it was likely Northwestern Airlines might use Victoria for its northern terminus if a field were established here.

COMMUNITY CHEST

A resolution endorsing the Community Chest was adopted as follows:

"Whereas, during the twelve months of its existence, the Community Chest of Greater Victoria has fully proved its immense value, both as a means of raising funds necessary for the efficient work of the social and other charitable organizations which it represents in our city and the careful and economic expenditure of the money so donated, the directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Victoria heartily and unreservedly endorse the Community Chest of Greater Victoria and ask all their members and Victorians generally to do everything possible to make the present Community Chest campaign an outstanding success."

RADIO REPORT

A copy of the reply of the radio committee's report to a questionnaire sent out by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce on means of improving radio service in the Dominion was received.

Suggestions included in the reply were as follows:

1. That a reduction should be made in the licence fee paid by listeners buying new radios in the last few months of the licence year.
2. That Professor Ira Dilworth, Western Canadian representative on the board of governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, be urged to press for shipboard interviews with prominent persons arriving in Victoria on vessels from Australasia and the Orient.
3. That the C.B.C. be linked with the United States networks between Seattle and Vancouver as well as through New York to permit an exchange of programmes of special interest to the Pacific Coast, and especially of United States programmes broadcast in Western evening hours. It was suggested the broadcasting of British Columbia programmes over United States

Liquor Licences in B.C. Clubs Will Be Changed by Board

Liquor licences for private clubs in the province will be changed by regulation of the Liquor Control Board shortly to permit the clubs to buy liquor in bulk and retail it to their members without profit. Attorney-General Gordon S. Wiener, K.C., said yesterday. The Government, he announced, had decided to act on the matter without waiting for the Legislature, as no change in the statute was required.

coast stations would be valuable in promoting tourist travel.

4. That the C.B.C. devote more time to broadcasting events of Empire interest and less to poor commercially-sponsored dance bands.

5. That legislation be passed to permit fuller restriction of man-made interference.

SALTSPRING ISLAND FARMERS' INSTITUTE ASKS FOR LECTURES

SALTSPRING, Oct. 22.—A directors' meeting of The Islands' Farmers' Institute, with the president, R. O. King, in the chair, was held recently in the committee room of the Mahon Hall, Ganges.

Following routine business and in answer to a letter from the department, the institute stated that the members would be glad to have the proposed pruning demonstration at the first opportunity suitable to the department. In connection with the demonstration inquiries were made as to the possibility of a lecture on pruning, open to the public, being given the same evening in the hall.

The secretary was asked to communicate with the department and try to secure, from time to time, speakers on conservation of soil, diseases and care of animals, etc. If arrangements for these talks can be made, due notice of dates will be given.

Up-to-date in other ways ... but just one telephone

Mrs. Multiwhizz prides herself on being a "modern". So, naturally, when she built a new home it had to be the last word in design and construction and filled with gadgets and doowhacksies to make life easier. But Mrs. Multiwhizz slipped badly in one essential. She had only one telephone put in. It's in the hall on the main floor, and it rings so often when she is in her bedroom, upstairs. What Mrs. Multiwhizz needs to make her home really up-to-date is an extension telephone at her bedside. The installation charge is only $1.00.

AN IRISH PARALLEL

Mr. de Valera sees in the settlement of the Sudeten question a parallel which, if followed, would include Ulster in Eire. There is, however, no such parallel as he claims. The Sudeten Germans desired to become part of the Reich. Ulstermen do not desire to come under the government of Dublin. One Ulsterman, Mr. E. W. Macbride, shows that Mr. de Valera has put forward a very poor argument. Czechoslovakia, he says, before the war, was part of the Austrian Empire. The modern State of Czechoslovakia was created by the Treaty of Versailles, and then a minority of German-speaking people was forcibly subjected to a Czech majority alien to them in race and language. There is a parallel between this state of affairs and the state of Ireland, but not of the kind Mr. de Valera quotes. Mr. Macbride says:

"In Ireland there existed two races, a minority of forceful Ulstermen of mixed Scotch and Dutch descent, definitely Protestant in their religion, and a large majority of Roman Catholics differing from the Ulstermen in race and habits. The Asquith Government, before the war, attempted to force the minority to submit to the rule of the majority. This attempt was fiercely resisted, and if persisted in would have involved Ireland in a dreadful civil war, from which, if I have no doubt, Ulster would have come out on top. When, therefore, we talk of Czechoslovakia suffering unheard of humiliation and loss we are, I submit, talking nonsense. All that has been done is to separate from Czechoslovakia a population which should never have formed part of it, to which she had no moral claim."

THE PADLOCK LAW

The public is pretty well acquainted with the arguments for and against the measure enacted by our Quebec fellow-citizens for the purpose of dealing with the menace of Communism. Appeals to the traditional principles of liberty are heard and read and repeated with strong approval by great numbers of people who attach to the doctrine of free speech and a free press an almost axiomatic certainty. On the other hand, many believe that Communists pay lip-service to liberty only to mask their intention to destroy her, that the liberty which Communists demand for themselves at this stage will be denied to others, if and when democracy is overthrown. The Libertarians reply that it is dangerous to deny to anyone the right to discuss public affairs either by speech or in writing. To this it is answered that it is much worse to endanger the stronghold of real democratic freedom by tolerating a revolutionary faction bearing a flag of false colors. One side utters a warning against undue severity which does no good, but only affords the malcontents an opportunity to pose as martyrs, or drives them and their activities underground. The other side quotes a distinguished literary politician, who points out that Communism is not only a creed but a plan of campaign, and that every act of good will, of tolerance, of conciliation, of mercy, of magnanimity on the part of Governments and statesmen will be utilized to their ruin. To the Communist, democracy is a mere tool to be used and afterwards broken, and liberty is mere sentimental folly.

The question is a thorny one. Anyone who undertakes to harmonize views so divergent has a difficult task on his hands. The problem of preserving the liberty of the subject and of dealing wisely with sedition and other subversive influences is as old as constitutional government, and indeed must have troubled most powerful rulers in all ages. In a famous work written when royal power was far greater than it is today there is a passage on "Seditions and Troubles," which treats of the materials, causes, and remedies of discontents. Although written several hundred years ago, it will never be out of date, unless and until human nature undergoes radical changes.

The first advice that is offered to statesmen regarding "discontentments" is that they should not measure the danger of them according to whether they are just or unjust, well-grounded or baseless, "for that were to imagine people to be too reasonable, who do often spurn at their own good." Nor are they to measure such discontents according to whether the privations complained of are in fact great or small, for the fear of continued suffering is always greater than the pain itself, because there is a limit to the one and not to the other. Among the causes and motives of sedition, of which there is a long list, those most operative in our day are perhaps "factions grown desperate," and generally, "whatsoever in offending people joineth and knitteth them into a common cause."

As to the remedies, only "general preservatives" are mentioned, because the first cure "must answer the particular disease and so must be left to counsel rather than rule." Want and poverty and unemployment were to be removed, then as now, chiefly by repressing waste and excess, by the encouragement of trade, industry, and agriculture, and the moderation of taxes. Certainly no writer could be more keenly alive to the dangers both of undue severity and undue indulgence in dealing with discontents. The passage is worth quoting in full: "To give moderate liberty for griefs and discontentments to evaporate, so, it be without too great insolvency and bravery, is a safe way; for he that turneth the humours back, and maketh the wound bleed inwards, endureseth malignant ulcers and pernicious imposthumes." Sometimes the ignoring of troubles checks them best, and making a great ado in stopping them "doth but make a wonder long-lived."

There is no magic panacea in all this, but at the least it provides some general maxims for sound policy. Princes and statesmen are warned that when discords and quarrels and factions are carried on openly it is a sign that the reverence for government is lost; and so the conclusion of the matter is that when the winds of sedition begin to blow, when the actions of rulers are traduced by false report, when the four pillars of government are shaken in these tempests of state, "men had need to pray for fair weather." What are these four pillars? They are religion, justice, counsel and treasure. Where do they stand? Everyone knows that religion is in the home, justice in the courts of law, good counsel in the King's advisers, and treasure gathered by honest thrift, public and private. Men of good will generally agree as to the end in view, however they may differ as to the best means of preserving and safeguarding our institutions.

LIQUOR CONTROL ACT

From time to time the question arises of amendments to the Liquor Control Act of this Province. It is an Act now which, in some particulars, is more honored in the breach than in the observance, particularly in relation to places within the meaning of the Act where spirituous liquors may be consumed. This part of the legislation calls for revision, or else for more rigid supervision. There is, too, the ever-recurring raising of the matter of legalizing the service of beer and wines with meals in restaurants and hotels. This is something the Government is unlikely to do without securing the sanction of the people by means of a plebiscite, but in order to dispose of the issue one way or another, such a plebiscite could well be held.

In 1936 a petition signed by 42 per cent of the registered voters of this city was presented to the Government asking that either sale of beer and wines should be permitted at restaurants and hotels, or that public opinion should be ascertained on the subject. The latter would be the better way, and possibly on the basis of being applicable locally according to the decision reached by different centres of population. This would involve an amendment to the Liquor Control Act, which makes no such provision at present. Since the subject is going to be kept alive, it would be a part of political wisdom to allow the people to have their say on the matter, just as they had in the first instance when liquor control was an issue.

VALUES OF SEAWEED

In Radio City, New York, the studios are insulated with specially packed seaweed. This harvest of the sea is finding new uses all the time. It has long been used for its potash and nitrogen in the cultivation of potatoes and asparagus. It provides a liquid used for the treatment of sprains and rheumatism. There is now talk of reviving the kelp-burning industry for its iodine and sodium carbonate. In Great Britain the chief use continues to be as a fertilizer. It is dried and stacked for sale, and fetches thirty shillings a ton. The finer seaweeds are edible and stimulate the appetite as breakfast foods and in soups. Some are medicinal, and a preparation of one of the weeds was used for soldiers gassed in the Great War. There is a flour, too, that can be made from seaweed and it has been used in the treatment of tuberculosis.

The seaweed industry on this coast has never been fully exploited. A small number of people collect it for fertilizing purposes, and Chinese occasionally comb the coast line for the weed as an edible. It could be used for fertilizing on a much larger scale than it is if there was a systematic method of collection and distribution; in other words, if the weed became the basis of a growing industry.

Readers of The Observer were recently asked to name six characters from novels of the present century most likely to be remembered fifty years hence. Those that received the most votes were Soames Forsyte, Jeeves, The Scarlet Pimpernel, Jesse Oakroyd, Father Brown and Peter Pan. Sherlock Holmes only just missed being included in the six.

Nature makes us poor only when we want necessities, but custom gives the name of poverty to the want of superfluities.—Johnson.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

Victoria is preparing for its outstanding convention today: the Provincial Legislature. At three o'clock fifteen solemn guns will boom from a battery on the corner of the Victoria Street, as if they would make so many denials in the page of history—they never do. Red and blue honor guards, wearing medals they won in a sterner day and a grimmer cause, will come from the "slope" to the "present" with a smart, triple click. The Lieutenant-Governor, in Windsor blue, will ascend the great steps and pass in between the ceremonial gates to the rotunda, where he will be met presently by Mr. Speaker and the Prime Minister. In a little while the second session of the Nineteenth Legislative Assembly of British Columbia will be in progress as the supreme tribunal of the Province, with power over property and civil rights, internal affairs, domestic economy, your fortunes, and your freedom.

For some five weeks your elected representatives, from the high North, the low South, east of the Cascades, west of the Cascades, the Coast, the Interior, the Boundary, Vancouver Island, the Queen Charlotte Islands, and elsewhere, will deliberate on how best they will not serve in this. The Administration, with its numerous supporters, will have one view; the Opposition, several others. Debates will arise, and out of the debates, though you may not see it, your country will come out a little better. It is inevitable that some will not agree, but to do so by word of mouth, by bayonet and hand grenade, by imprisonment and concentration camp, such as the world knows all too frequently elsewhere.

Out of the debates—the main debate, the budget debate, and perhaps a dozen others—will stand out a few points of view; and you may watch for yourselves a cross-section of the Province of British Columbia wrestling with problems that very intimately concern you. They are your problems, in fact. The debaters, forty-seven of them, because Mr. Speaker does not "speak," are the individuals you choose for that mission. In doing so, you honored them; in the confident hope that they would honor you, and respect your wishes. If they do so, you are well served. If they do not, you would have a just cause for complaint, and also its sovereign remedy. When the time comes, you may re-elect them, or put them out. But for the present, today, will be your highest tribunal, and the men and women you sent there to attend to your business.

In times past, and not altogether when it has been the habit to belittle parliament, and those who sit in it. It is a short-sighted policy. In parliament should sit your best brains, your highest trustees, men and women whose integrity and honor should be above question. Should it become otherwise, you will find yourself served by second-rate material; and the output will be a botched job. Even in the prisoner's dock, a man is adjudged innocent until he is proved guilty. Will you concede less to your elected representatives; no matter for what party they stand?

Each one is the custodian of his own character; making it, day by day, and piece by piece. The result is placed on record, day by day, and piece by piece. You have only to watch, to learn how you are served. Without seeing, without knowing, do not condemn all men as fools or knaves; that is to cheapen your own judgment. Keep an open mind. Parliament is a great, an honored institution. You can help to keep it so, by wise selection, by encouragement, by praise when it is due, by censure only when it has been earned. But do not neglect it, for it is your institution, and your business.

There are times when many of us shrug our shoulders, and say something cutting about the institution of parliament. That is a costly habit. It would be hard to put into figures the cost of Demonstration-figures to recapture goodwill. It would be impossible to name the loss in efficiency and progress through the turning away of those best fitted to serve, and to lead, for parliament is leadership. If it is nothing, we may not, perhaps have not, developed the institution to its greatest responsibilities. Its most effective service; but the fault, if so, has been shared equally by the people and all of them. That is where you, as electors, come in. Expect the best of your elected representatives—and see that you get it. It is yours for the asking, if you will.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of October 25, 1888)

Band Organized at Wellington—A brass band, comprising twenty instruments, has been organized at Wellington, and although only in practice for a couple of months, has already attained a fair degree of excellence. The band is under the leadership of A. W. Marshall, and the members have purchased a complete set of new instruments and neat uniforms. The Free Press speaks in very complimentary terms of the musical ability of the Wellington band.

Inebriate Causes Runaway—A horse owned by a Chinese resident, and used by him in delivering vegetables to his Celestial customers, took fright in Chinatown yesterday and ran up Government Street to Pigeon, where it was overtaken by a constable. The runaway was caused by a drunken man leaning against the horse to steady himself. The animal was so thin that he mistook it for a carpenter's saw-horse.

Steamer Isabel Almost Ready—The boilers have been placed in position in the steamer Isabel, and the Alderman Coughlin commences the necessary brickwork. P. M. Butler is busily engaged in repairs to the engine. The steamer is expected to leave the wharf in about three weeks and resume her place on the Victoria, Nanaimo and Comox route.

only work at it; honest and able representation.

In the five weeks to come I don't expect to agree with one-fifth of what will be said and done in the second session of the Nineteenth Legislature; but I will know that forty-eight men, assembled from all over the Province, will be engaged in a serious, intelligent, training and encouragement. Even when I disagree most warmly, I will be prepared to honor the men, and the women, who are doing it. It is true of government, as of everything else in life, that the job is much more difficult than it appears from the sidelines; so difficult in fact that it is worth a great deal more of your attention than it has as yet received.

"How shall you live your life, if you are not prepared to listen to the viewpoint of another, and draw good from it, too? That is what debate is for: to bring out all points of view, so that out of the vast array of fact, of theory, and knowledge may be drawn the little that is wisdom. Elsewhere at many points about world people have abandoned debate, for something more serviceable. They are headed for artificial viewpoints, ready-made thoughts, and trouble. That is not the British way. Parliament is. Keep it, as your best institution. Keep it and improve it, where you may."

In South Africa

By MARJORIE LEEMING

What is that queer essence that is South Africa? What is that appeal we hear so much about? Is it a legend, that Africa will get you, will charm you and make you hers? After a month in this country one wonders as one feels the compulsion of that charm.

It is the native element, lending in some magical way the light-heartedness to the very land? Is it that their broad, smooth faces somehow make one look at life a little less seriously? The perpetual ready smile in black faces is a continual reminder that life is to be lived, not hastened through.

Or might it not have to do with the country, its very soil? Might it not be the queer light that is Africa? . . . the smoothness of the light, the richness of the very atmosphere. Look off into the distance and the very air seems to have congregated there as much as to say, I, too, love it and I want to stay . . . and so it makes everything round it doubly beautiful by catching each ray and softening it all down to the calmness of spirit it has acquired. The hills about it, lend a charm to an indefinable charm that makes your heart turn over . . . that catches you breathless, yet that restores something intangibly beautiful to the watcher.

Again, as the sun sets, a peace of spirit descends as we see the deep wealth of mystical haze that emanates from the very earth . . . we feel that that perhaps is the appeal of Africa.

But might it not be the color? The vivid, lively, spontaneous colors? This startling wealth of colors of the North, where our colors are so much more conservative. Here again we feel that the flowers are indeed children of an unrestrained and voluptuous child-like mother, who does not mind generously and immodestly perhaps squandering her wealth. We feel there is a youth about it, a lack of restraint which appeals, as youth must always appeal. Is it that we ask?

Or could it be the rich sky at night, the nearness of it, the clearness of it; the very air again seems deeply to love the night. In a soft caress it seems to greet the earth and to lay a kindly, protective cloak of softness over all.

And so we contemplate this Africa which we are feeling somehow compels us with a compulsion we are not loathe to feel as we sense all this continent has to offer, and we wonder how it will feel to see once again the blues and greens of our native land with all the ruggedness of our stalwart trees and mountains. A sudden urge to see that land and to breathe that invigorating air is keenly felt, but we stifle it and turn to new things with eagerness, as we remember that "time marches on" and nothing is to be gained by idle wishing.

Real Brainbusters!

Did you ever stop to think that probably one of the most intelligent "brainbusters" that ever inhabited the earth is now in the process of development? Well, if it is not the truth there's something wrong with the radio. For some unknown reason, every second programme, it seems, that one tunes in is some sort of a quiz contest. They started with general questions, then took the news stories for questionnaires, found their way into musical stickers and are now quizzing housewives on their knowledge of recipes. It all boils down to the fact that we mortals will absorb so much knowledge—or will we—that a race of super, super intelligent beings is the only possible outcome.—W.P.

Who Wins Gas?

Buyers of gasoline in the Province of British Columbia will be at some loss to know who is to be thanked for the reduction in the prices a week ago, on the initiative of the oil companies, a reduction was made covering the consumers in the Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario, when the prices were set at 25 cents and 22 1/2 cents a gallon as the basic prices. At the same time, the report was circulated that this would likely be the price that would be made general all through the West also. In British Columbia, however, the Government evidently anticipated the companies, and called into effect the basic prices used in the East.—O.H.N.

Dangerous Practice

While walking along Cook Street late on a recent evening, we noticed an urchin about twelve years old standing in the middle of the road near McClure Street. Six times the lad vigorously twisted his thumb in the attitude used by hitch-hikers, but drivers paid no attention. Several times the urchin was nearly run down. Finally he nonchalantly lit a cigarette and wandered down the middle of the road, still unsuccessfully flicking his thumb at cars. . . . One of the most interesting parrots we have ever heard of is a four-year-old "polly" belonging to a lady on Craigflower Road. The bird is passionately devoted to hymns, and is never happy on Sundays until placed beside the radio during a church broadcast. It then attempts to follow the hymns in its raucous voice. "Polly" has two favorite songs: "Annie Laurie" and "Comin' Through the Rye."—G.B.

Rugby Gossip

Watch the Wanderers and the Bays. That's the cry along the local Rugby front following the results of Saturday's opening senior matches at Macdonald Park. After seeing these clubs in action it certainly looks as if they will be close to the top when the end of the season rolls around. . . . Schaban, young Navy wing three-quarter, up from senior "B" company, looks good in his new assignment, and should improve with more game. . . . Young, 200 pound forward, who scored the Navy's final try Saturday, literally plunged through to the Wanderers' line. It looked for a moment as if he had been fired from one of the torpedo tubes at the Esquimalt Naval Barracks. . . . Jack Grogan, Oak Bay fullback, did some smart kicking for the first game of the season, his kick from the touchline being one of the best we have seen for some time. . . . Bill Geddes, who plays fullback for the sailors, took a forty-five-yard free kick and scored. . . . Grogan was a splendid "booby" by Geddes, who also holds down the right wing position on the Navy soccer team. . . . Garrison, according to some of the Tommies from Work Point, have a lot of good material for their Rugby fifteens, but no coach. . . . Ken Buxton, "rep" player and a former member of the Bays, will play with his "buddies" this season.—S.T.

FAILING HEART

Sir,—In 1936 the number of nineteen-year-old girls in British Columbia was apparently around 6,800; the number of girl babies born in that year that would reach nineteen years old would be about 4,700, say, three-quarters. The fact is fixed irrevocable.

This computation is drawn from the census of Canada, 1931, and from the vital statistics of British Columbia, 1936. It relates to the number of people, wherever they may have meanwhile moved to, that will represent those that were in British Columbia in 1936. That year is taken, as the latest fully reported, and the girls of nineteen, as a group perhaps a little affected as any by migration.

The computation may err by method or figure, but, if correct, it would go to show that people are dying out at the rate of about a quarter in twenty years.

GASOLINE PRICES

Sir,—Regarding the action of the Provincial Government in ordering the petroleum industry to cut the price of gasoline.

The Government would appear to have bitten off more than it can

"WHEN THEY LAY ME OFF at 65..."

"YES SIR, when I knock off work for good at age 65 I won't need to worry. I'll get a $25 cheque every month as long as I live. But that's not all. If anything happens to me before 65, my family will get a cash payment of $905 and then a regular income of $25 every month for ten years—and all for $2 a week." ## LADIES RALLY TO STANDARD

Community Chest "C" Division Chairman, Has Workers' Meeting

Rallying to their leader's standard in the spirit of the Crusaders of old, about 160 members of the "C" division (the women's division) of the Community Chest campaign of 1938 yesterday afternoon, met at the home of their chairman, Miss Sara Spencer, 930 Moss Street, to receive their final instructions and words of encouragement before going into battle. The atmosphere was electric with enthusiasm as, seated on chairs, chairs, armchairs, and even the floor, notebooks in hand and pencils poised, the great corps of workers listened intently to the several two-minute messages of encouragement and advice.

To Insure Prosperity at Home Markets Abroad Must be Found For Hundreds of Millions of Dollars' Worth of Canadian Products

AFTER several years of poor crops in the West, the news of a good one this year was acclaimed all over Canada. It meant production valued at over a quarter of a billion dollars for the grain growers. Big freight business for the railways and steamship companies. Stimulation to trade throughout the Dominion, provided that a market can be found for our wheat crop.

It is one thing to grow a big wheat crop and another thing to find consumers for it. Our own people here in Canada will not be able to use as much as one-third of this year's wheat crop before next harvest time. That leaves us, including last year's carry-over, with 280 million bushels for export or carry-over. With the aid of our trade agreements, the experienced organization maintained by the Canadian Department of Trade and Commerce, and the work of grain exporters it is expected that the crop, that means so much to Canada's prosperity, will be successfully marketed.

Home Market Cannot Consume All We Produce

Wheat is not the only thing we produce in excess of what we consume. While as individuals we may eat frequently and heartily of ham and bacon, our total Canadian consumption is about two-thirds of what our hog raisers produce and our packing companies cure. Of lard, another pork product, we consume about half of what our packers manufacture.

Those bright, rosy apples that Canadian school boys and girls rate so highly! Surely we eat all of those we grow. Not so, we eat only two out of every five of them. We have to find a market overseas for half of our apple crop.

Perhaps you may not think so, but it is a fact that we eat only one-third of that tasty Canadian cheese we make. As for fish—we eat only a third of the fish our fishermen catch.

Export Business Provides Jobs for These Men

If our lumber jacks and saw-mill workers had to depend solely on Canadian consumption of the products of our forests there would be only half as many employed. Our home market takes less than half of the sawn timber we cut and only one-fifth of the wooden shingles our mills manufacture (1936 last figures available). Turning to sawmills, which is made from Canadian pulpwood, our Canadian papers consumed only one-thirteenth of what we made in 1936.

Moving to our mines, what do we find? Take copper: only about one-quarter of the refined copper produced in Canada is needed to supply our domestic requirements. Our home market consumes less than one-seventh of the refined lead we produce, less than one-eighth of the refined zinc, and less than one per cent. of the refined nickel. It is evident that the livelihood of our miners depends principally upon our success in selling our metals to other countries.

Trained Organization Examining Markets

Canada's economic and trade salvation depends upon our ability to find markets in other lands for the hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of products that we are able to produce in excess of our own needs. This is the problem that the Canadian Department of Trade and Commerce continually faces and works on. Its specially trained organization of statisticians, tariff experts and men skilled in commerce, including its representatives in different countries, is constantly examining markets in other countries and when opportunities are seen it aids Canadian exporters in developing them. The intensive "Canada Calling" advertising and selling campaign now being carried on under the Department's direction in England and Scotland is an outstanding example of the work being carried on to enlarge the markets for Canadian products.

Export Trade Produces Work at Home

The more Canadian-built cars and trucks that we can sell to South Africa the more work for Canadians to build them. The more electric ranges, typewriters, washing machines and radios we can sell abroad the more workers needed to make them here in Canada. The more flour, canned goods, pickles, sauces, beverages, shoes, dresses and hundreds of other lines of Canadian products that we can induce importers and consumers in other lands to buy from us the more work for industries and labor—and more prosperity for all of us.

Today some Canadian products go to two or three countries. Other products to from six to twelve countries. Some exporters have been able, with the aid of Department of Trade and Commerce representatives, to find markets for their products in a score or more countries. Canada's aim for the future should be towards greater expansion of her export trade. With the government, the producers, the workmen and all concerned actively co-operating it should be possible to exceed our best past records and, in doing so, create an increased world-wide respect for the quality of Canadian products and the honesty and fairness of our business methods.

OPENS UP NEW POSSIBILITIES

Air Express Carries Flowers East and Young Lobsters Are Brought West

VANCOUVER, Oct. 24.—Pure white flowers for baby lobsters. When East trades with West by air express there's no telling what will result.

In the first week of air express operation across Canada the most consistent eastbound shipments have been gardenias for midday's corsage in Montreal, according to Canadian National Express.

Expected here by air later this week is a parcel of twenty baby lobsters from Montreal.

Heretofore Montreal's best gardenias have come from New York. Now the Quebec metropolis gets them 100 blooms at a time a day after being cut here.

Motion picture films are commencing to move by air, too. On today's plane were film cans weighing 100 pounds. They are British pictures, coming by way of Montreal.

The East's most consistent air express to the Coast, however, continues to be women's fashions from style houses in Montreal and Toronto.

DRESSMAKER HAD TO QUIT SEWING

Hands Swollen With Rheumatism

Pity this poor dressmaker! Nineteen of her work consists of sewing—and she was not able to sew. Rheumatism in the hands was her trouble, and she tried any number of remedies. But nothing helped much—until she came to Kruschen. "Three-and-a-half years ago," she writes, "I had a violent attack of rheumatic pains. My feet and hands were swollen. The pain was terrible. I was really quite crippled and helpless."

"I tried many remedies without success. Then I started on Kruschen. After one month I could stand up again. Then I walked with a cane. In three months I was quite well again. As I am a dressmaker, you can imagine what it meant to me not to be able to work my sewing machine. What a treat to be able to walk, to work, and to be free from pain!" (Mrs. E. E.)

"The stabbing pains of rheumatism are often caused by uric acid lodged in the joints. Kruschen brings relief because it helps to dissolve those troubling crystals and to expel them from the system." (Adv.)

Dean of Columbia, conducting the service. An abundance of beautiful floral offerings was received. The following were the pallbearers: Colonel Brooke Stephenson, Commander Hincks, Dr. C. W. ## B.C. TO RETAIN ABSENTEE VOTE

Numbers Engaged at Seasonal Work May Prevent Elimination of System

Total abolition of the absentee voting system might prove impracticable in British Columbia, due to the absence of large numbers of registered voters at seasonal occupations, it was explained yesterday at the Legislative Buildings by electoral officials. On the other hand changes in electoral law, where it has been outmoded with the passage of time, will be proposed with a view to improving the present system. It was stated.

The text of the proposed changes may not be known until they are submitted by the Government to a special committee of the Legislature. Before the same committee will go the Government's plans for redistribution of the forty-eight seats in the Legislature. Changes in Victoria, The Islands, Newcastle and Alberni have been unofficially discussed, but the plan as a whole has not yet been reviewed by the Government. It is understood.

Beaux-Arts Kitchen Shower

The Beaux-Arts held a kitchen shower on Sunday afternoon in the clubroom, corner of Duesch and Leighton Streets, when a generous amount of useful utensils was donated by the more than seventy guests who attended and partook of tea, which was served informally. The table was centred with lovely bronze chrysanthemums, and the same floral motif was used throughout the reception rooms. Miss Anne Crockett and Miss Roberta Thatcher presided at the urns, and assisting in serving were Misses Jean McDonald, Elizabeth Martin, Joan Hall and Mary Lindgren. The president, Mr. Brian Burdon-Murphy, spoke briefly, thanking the guests for their contributions and mentioning details of the immediate programme. Mr. Jack Rutland announced that plans for the Halloween party next Monday, at the clubrooms, were completed, and varied entertainments would be offered members and friends. Those attending Sunday's function availed themselves of the opportunity to inspect the new and well-equipped make-up and scenery rooms, which demonstrated the considerable progress made since acquiring these new headquarters.

On the occasion of their silver wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKean 1737 Fairfield Road, were "at home" to their friends recently. They were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Daley, Manchester Road, on October 22, 1913, the late Rev. Dr. W. L. Clay officiating. Empire." George VI, he said, was following George V into the hearts of the people.

In the British Isles, order, liberty and social justice were more advanced than anywhere else. British was leading the way in planning for economic and social justice and it would be well for Canada to follow her along this road.

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, who represents Calgary West in the House of Commons, and who was Dr. Manion's predecessor in the Conservative leadership, was praised as a brilliant businessman, orator and lawyer.

"He is in the highest sense a statesman. He isn't just a dead politician, though he'd be the first to admit he wasn't a very good live one," said Dr. Manion.

GOES TO BRANDON

From Moose Jaw Dr. Manion will go to Brandon, Man., there to spend Wednesday and Thursday promoting the election of the Conservative candidate in the by-election on November 15. Friday he will address the Winnipeg Canadian Club and he intends to discuss Canada's railway problem.

At the Canadian Club today Dr. Manion regretted that addresses to luncheon gatherings were supposed to be non-political. They might better be non-partisan. It was difficult to discuss any Canadian problem without touching something political.

documents which Colonel Ralston read in part, conducting the commission through such a maze of figures and transactions that even Mr. Justice Davis declared he had difficulty in following it. Earlier in the day Defence Minister Mackenzie completed his evidence with a great part of the morning occupied by efforts of I. P. Helmut, counsel for Maclean's, to get a direct answer to his question urging the minister to "point to a single fact in the Drew article that is incorrect."

In the narrative of financial transactions given this afternoon it was shown that Stanley Nurse, an employee of the Toronto financial firm of Cameron, Piontine & Merritt, made an offer September 21, 1936, to the Toronto General Trusts Corporation, trustee of the first mortgage bondholders, and the Premier Trust Company, receiver and manager, to purchase all physical assets of the John Inglis Company for $250,000.

NOTICE SERVED

OTTAWA, Oct. 24 (C.P.)—Formal notice under the Libel Act was served today upon Lieut.-Col. George Drew, Toronto; Maclean's Magazine and Napier Moore, its editor, by the John Inglis Company in connection with Colonel Drew's article in Maclean's on the Inglis Company Bren gun contract with the Defence Department. The article led to the Royal Commission inquiry into the contract now going on here.

The Financial Post, which reprinted the article, was served with notice in Toronto, it was learned here.

The legal firm of Blake, Cassels & Anglin, Toronto, acted for the Inglis Company in serving the notices.

The act requires that formal notice must be served within six weeks of the occurrence of the alleged libel and thereafter formal court action for libel must be begun within three months. Court action need not necessarily follow the formal notice.

JAPANESE WITHIN RANGE OF HANKOW

were reported twenty miles below Hankow.

Prior to occupation of Hwangpeli the Japanese captured Likiasi, thirty miles northeast of Hankow. In taking the two points, the Japanese said they surrounded ten Chinese divisions near Macheng, sixty miles northeast of Hankow. The Japanese said their aircraft were bombing and machine-gunning these troops.

Japanese army spokesmen said the Chinese had lost heavily before their alleged cessation of resistance. The Japanese said their advancing forces found the countryside roadsways covered with thousands of Chinese who died before Japanese air and artillery attacks.

The Japanese also said they had made rapid strides south of the Yangtze, reaching a point close to the Hankow-Canton Railway. The Chinese also were in retreat in the south bank, Japanese said, and were being attacked by bombing planes.

UNDER MARTIAL LAW

HANKOW, Oct. 24 (C.P.)—Martial law prevailed in Hankow as invading Japanese drove to within twenty miles of this provisional capital.

Chinese expected severe fighting tomorrow, claiming they still had strong defence lines, which the Japanese may reach tomorrow, east and northeast of here.

Foreign consuls and shipping companies were informed officially the Yangtze above Hankow would be closed to navigation.

British naval authorities were understood to have lodged a strong protest with Japanese in Shanghai over the aerial bombing attack which damaged the British gunboat Sandpiper at Changsha, 200 miles southwest of here.

Most junks evacuating refugees left Hankow last night loaded with passengers but about 400,000 Chinese and more than 1,000 foreigners remained.

FIRE IN CANTON

CANTON, Oct. 24 (C.P.)—Four huge fires, which killed hundreds of Chinese and caused damage running into many millions of dollars, apparently were dying down tonight. The foreign settlement on Shamien Island had a new scare in the morning when the wind turned and drove sparks over the island, but no fires were started.

A trip along Shakes Bund, opposite Shamien, and the Whangpoo section, showed hundreds of Chinese injured by collapsed buildings dying in the streets among the bodies of other victims.

The small Japanese force, aided by foreign police and sailors, was powerless to check widespread looting by Chinese.

Reinforcements were expected by the Japanese tomorrow to clean up the city, extinguish fires and end looting.

PRYKE, CLUNK TAKE MATCH

Colwood and Gorge Vale
Pros Triumph Over Taylor
And Todd

Scoring their first victory of four exhibition matches, the combination of Joe Pryke and Freddie Clunk, Colwood and Gorge Vale Golf Club professionals, battled to a last-hole win over Phil Taylor, Oak Bay pro, and Jimmy Todd, city amateur champion, on the Gorge Vale course on Sunday.

Trailing the Taylor-Todd duel by one hole at the turn, Pryke and Clunk led the count on the tenth with several spectacular shots. From the eleventh tee to the clubhouse it was any man's battle, and the large host of fans that formed the gallery were treated to an exhibition of sharp-shooting that found the best ball rating eleven under par.

Freddie Clunk clinched the game on the last hole when he sank the ball with a birdie three, to take the match.

Due to the extreme interest taken by the public in this last match, golfing officials are making arrangements for continuation of the matches sometime within the next few weeks.

W. Cairns, leader of Newcastle United's attack in the English Second Division, brought his total to thirteen by scoring against West Ham United. Cairns, a bustling and clever centre-forward, is regarded as a likely choice for International honors.

OIL COMPANIES GET INJUNCTION

Ltd.; Signal Oil Co. of British Columbia, Ltd.; Standard Oil of British Columbia, Ltd.; Texas Co. of Canada, Ltd.; Union Oil Co. of Canada, Ltd.; Pender Garage, Ltd., and Roy Stewart, Ltd. The action seeks in effect to restrain the Government from fixing the price of gasoline.

By direction of Mr. Justice Manson, Registrar J. F. Mather notified the defendants in Victoria of the injunction. The argument was heard in Chambers.

NOTIFY DEFENDANTS

Plaintiffs, through their counsel, Senator J. W. de B. Farris, contended that if the order fixing prices took effect, they would lose $1,500,000 over a one-year period. Senator Farris argued that the price-fixing order would interfere with trade and commerce. It was, he said, an attempt to regulate trade and commerce. He referred to the report of Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald, whose investigation and report on the fuel industry preceded the passing of the present act.

The Macdonald report, Senator Farris said, found that gasoline was selling too high and fuel oil too low. This resulted, according to the report, from the importation by operating companies of a fuel oil to suit their purposes, whereby the high price of gasoline in effect carried the low price of fuel.

MEANING OF REPORT

The underlying principle of the report, Senator Farris contended, was to compel the operating companies to change their operations, to stop them from importing fuel oil as heretofore and instead to import a fuel oil of a different type with a higher grade of gasoline.

The present order, Senator Farris argued, was an attempt by an indirect method to regulate the price of one commodity at the expense of another. It was an attempt to regulate the importation of fuel oil and pass the loss on to the supplier of the fuel oil who would be outside the province. It was a matter, said the Senator, entirely within the control of the Federal Parliament and as such was outside the jurisdiction of the Provincial Legislature.

ESQUIMALT IN POLO TRIUMPH

Defeat Victoria Club, 8-5, in Fast Exhibition Match at Foul Bay Road

Swinging his mallet with deadly accuracy, Dr. M. Olsen led a hard-riding Esquimalt polo squad to an 8-5 victory over the Victoria Polo Club in a week-end exhibition game on the Foul Bay Road grounds.

On the ball from the opening gun, Dr. Olsen boosted his team into the lead when he shot two rapid-fire goals between the upstarts soon after commencement of play. At the end of the first chukker Esquimalt led 2-1, with G. Edgewood accounting for the City tally.

Scores by Deane Freeman and Dr. Olsen again in the second brought the second chukker tally to 3-2. Two chukkers later the Victoria squad rallied to bring the total to 5-4, but in the final frame Esquimalt ran wild, and an attempt to clear by Edgewood in front of his own goal accounted for the final Esquimalt goal.

Line-ups follow:
Esquimalt—Dr. M. Olsen, Deane Freeman, Piddington, Colonel Green and McDonnell.
Victoria Polo Club—G. Edgewood, N. Van der Vliet, Dr. J. M. Sturdie, Finley, Boorman and Wilson.

Jane Dixon Says:

HOW DO SOME SUPPOSEDLY INTELLIGENT PARENTS GET THE IDEA THAT THEIR CHILDREN ARE SLAVES?

Here is one of those confidences to the column which causes the blood of this writer to boil.
Not only to boil, but to boil over!

How do some parents—supposedly intelligent parents at that—get the idea that their children are slaves?

Dear Miss Dixon: My problem is not a boy-girl one. It is a home one. I had to quit college the first semester last year, because of financial conditions at home. My brother continued his studies in a costlier college.

I stayed at home to help mother and father. They discharged the hired girl and I did all of the work. I stayed home the whole summer, except for an occasional trip to a nearby town, and have done the housework.

I have a flair for sewing and for dressmaking, and am sure of a job in that town. There are very good chances that I can start a dressmaker's shop of my own. My parents will not hear of it. They say I'd certainly leave them in a fine fix—they are school teachers, and will need someone to keep house for them.

I don't mind the work or even staying at home, for they pay me $10 a month, and I do like to keep the house clean. But they give me no credit for my work and say I am lazy. When I came home from school last year, the house was filthy. My parents say all I do is scrub and clean; I never do any real work. What is more important in a house than cleanliness?

I could take all of this were it not for the constant nagging, fussing, even cursing about the work. And only four rooms to curse over. Please tell me what to do.—Waiting.

Comment: I have not a moment's hesitancy in telling you what to do, my dear Waiting. Go to that nearby town and get the dressmaker's job you know and like, or better yet, strive to open that shop of your own.

I pay a maid $10 a month for the work you are doing, and I buy most of her clothes, too. With their joint pay as teachers, your parents can afford to employ a "hired girl" and leave you free to begin your career in whatever line you choose.

If the picture you have given me of your parents is a true one, there must be something wrong with the school board in your district. Imagine employing teachers who prepare youth for careers in high places while holding their own child to a servant station.

Thanks for your confidence, Waiting. Step out and go into the dress business!

TO DAMN WITH FAINT PRAISE
It is better not to praise at all than, praising faintly, to damn.
When you criticize, the world prefers, criticize frankly: the opinion then is taken for what it is worth, adjudged and may do some good; while ostentatious approval that in reality disapproves, goes, as does its giver, unrespected.

Well does Pope, who coined the potent phrase, bring home to us this sentiment in the following verse from his Prologue to the Satires:
"Damn with faint praise, assent with civil leer,
And without sneering teach the rest to sneer;

Willing to wound, and yet afraid to strike,
Just hint a fault, and hesitate dislike."

A similar prose expression appeared some time later in Wycherly's Double Dealer, the mouthpiece being a character who "libels every one with dull praise."

And, in Fletcher's Purple Island we find it again in verse:
"When needs he must, yet faintly then he praises;
Somewhat the deed, much more the means he raises;
So narreth what he makes, and praising most dispraises."

Irate Car Driver: What's up down there?
Yokel (driving car): Darned old horse be down—that's what's up!

Remand Until Today Given Henry
H. Neilson in Attempted
Robbery Case

Henry H. Neilson, alias James Sharp, was charged in the city police court yesterday morning with attempting to rob Hubert Moonen while armed with an offensive weapon. Magistrate Henry C. Hall remanded the accused until this morning without plea or election.

Constables John Blackstock and Harry Mercer arrested the accused on Douglas Street Saturday night after Mr. Moonen complained that a man confronted him at the door of his apartment. He was armed with a pistol and ordered Mr. Moonen to throw up his hands.

Police stated they found an unloaded pistol in Neilson's possession.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT
By Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

Of all the contracts that meet defeat, the greatest proportion falls, not because too many tricks have been bid, but because the declarer does not get the limit out of his resources. In other words, the average pair's bidding is considerably better than its play. Undoubtedly, many good contracts fail because of bad breaks, but countless safety plays have been devised or discovered to circumvent these bad breaks. It cannot be claimed that safety play cover all conceivable occasions, but it is a fact that the player who knows all about them enjoys an appreciable advantage. Today's hand illustrates a very simple type of safety play which, unfortunately, is not always observed.

West opened the heart queen, and declarer won with the ace. It was immediately apparent that the contract was safe unless declarer should encounter a very bad trump break. At a normal break he would have to lose only one spade, one heart, and one diamond. Perhaps the declarer was lulled into a false sense of security, and then again perhaps he did not know how to guard against the possibility of a bad break. At any rate he laid down the ace and king of trumps and was, thoroughly and completely, defeated.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

Children's Frequent Colds

If your children keep coming down with colds all winter, use VapoRub. These three simple ways:

- ✓ For relieving discomforts of chest colds and night coughs, rub VapoRub on throat, chest and back of neck.
- ✓ For coughing and irritated throat caused by colds, put VapoRub on child's tongue.
- ✓ For "sniffles" and misery of head colds, melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Have the child breathe in the steam.

VICKS VapoRub

For coughing and irritated throat caused by colds, put VapoRub on child's tongue. For "sniffles" and misery of head colds, melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Have the child breathe in the steam. The steam loosens phlegm, clears air-passages, makes breathing easier. Also massage VapoRub on throat and chest. Millions of families use these three time-tested ways to relieve the misery of colds.

PRISON THRILLER AT THE DOMINION

"King of Alcatraz" Stars Lloyd Nolan, Gail Patrick and J. Carrol Naish

How one man tries to make good his escape from dreaded Alcatraz, the "break-proof" prison fared by every criminal, by fleeing to sea in disguise and pirating a ship, makes one of the most thrill-packed and fast-moving pictures of the year. It is Paramount's "King of Alcatraz," which will open today at the Dominion Theatre.

"King of Alcatraz," which features Gail Patrick, Lloyd Nolan and J. Carrol Naish heading a cast of film favorites, shows the escaped killer—J. Carrol Naish—boarding a coastal ship in disguise, accompanied by his henchmen. Once out to sea, the gang pirates the ship to gain possession.

Police Commission Authorizes Chief To Engage Extra Men For Night Duty

Chief J. A. McLellan was authorized by the Police Commission, at a meeting yesterday afternoon, to engage special constables for night duty. A number of former members of the police force will be employed at the regular rates of pay.

Approval was given to recommendations of the chief that Constable Angus Munro be promoted to a second-class constable; Constable John D. Blackstock to third class; Constable Edwin G. Sturrock to first class; Constable Alexander Briggs to first class, and Constable John W. Mason to a third-class constable.

A letter from A. H. Gordon, 805 Gordon Street, suggested that the commission consider an anti-noise by-law similar to that of Vancouver. The letter was received and filed.

A communication from the building inspector informed the commission that an automatic coxer would improve the efficiency and result in economy at the police station heating plant. It was decided to ask the building and plumbing inspectors to estimate the cost of repairs to the plant and plumbing.

say what they like, but I shall always call it 'Arewood, with the hacket on the hatch,' reminds one of a Cockney conversation which comes from 'Ernie Till, and runs all follows: Cockney—Good morning, Mr. Arrison. Mr. Arrison—My name ain't 'Arrison. Cockney—Ho, ain't it? If a hatch, a hay, two hars, a hi, a hese, a ho and a hen don't spell 'Arrison, what do it spell?
